Dear Ms. Alvarez,

I'm writing to you on behalf of Grow It Farms, an organization that supports our community through fresh, ethically grown affordable fruits and vegetables. We'd love to be considered for your Local Farms grant of $5,000 to fund our Feed The Children project.

Our organization is the only one of its kind in Farmington, Virginia, that provides free lunch food for low-income children and their families. We address the obstacles facing families living in poverty, especially those who struggle to feed their children healthy meals. A large percentage of children are not getting the nutrients they need to be strong and healthy, and we want to change that.

Our organization's mission is to provide healthy produce to families in need and educate our communities on the importance of healthy eating. This year we want to expand our reach to complete our project, Feed the Children, which would provide our communities and neighbors with farm-fresh food. With your grant, we could:

- Provide 2,500 boxes of fresh produce for low-income families around our area
- Host five education events and activities to teach children and their families about health and wellness
- Fund the creation of a community farm

We feel this project, funded by your grant, could help address malnutrition in children and aid in our goal to improve the lives of everyone in our community.

Our previous projects have made many positive impacts:

- In 2021, we donated free boxes of produce to 40 families in the area.
- Last year, we donated free boxes of produce to 50 families in the area.
- Last year, we also facilitated a neighborhood event with educational activities about local farms.

We hope that you consider us for the grant you're offering. We feel our organization shares The Farm Foundation's mission of supporting communities through agriculture. Your funding could go a long way in helping our community. I'd be happy to answer any questions you may have about our project, and I'd love to meet in person to discuss how your grant could benefit our organization.

Thank you for your time.

Best regards,

Cheryl Smith
